2. Meet and greet opportunities with esteemed drivers Zhou Guanyu and Yuki Tsunoda

Circuit powerhouses Zhou Guanyu and Yuki Tsunoda will be involved in exclusive meet-and-greet opportunities for Marina Bay Sands' loyalty members in September. Available exclusively through select hotel packages, these engagements offer guests a unique chance to connect with these esteemed figures while enjoying the premium amenities of Marina Bay Sands.

Fans of Zhou and Tsunoda can revel in the euphoric buzz of F1 with race-themed hotel packages, namely the Zhou Guanyu and Yuki Tsunoda Experience Packages. Both packages come with a suite of curated experiences, including a stay in a luxurious Paiza Premier Suite, complete with exclusive three-day in-circuit VIP race access at the Marina Bay Sands Sky Suite, invitation to a by-invite-only event experience with Zhou and Tsunoda, VIP entry to the hottest race afterparty in town featuring Afrojack at MARQUEE Singapore, as well as boozy brunches at LAVO Italian Restaurant and Rooftop Bar.

The first and only Formula 1 driver from China, Shanghai-born Zhou Guanyu began competitive karting at just eight years old and moved on to compete in single-seater championships at 15. His racing career has flourished since, clinching first place in the 2021 Formula 3 Asian Championship, and attaining numerous wins and pole positions across three solid Formula 2 seasons. In 2022, Zhou became the 66th driver in history to score points in his F1 debut race.

Japanese Formula 1 racing driver Yuki Tsunoda began his professional karting career in 2010, joining the Japan Automobile Federation Junior Karting Championship and made his debut in the Formula 3 Championship in 2019. He clinched an impressive four pole positions and three victories in the Formula 2 series in 2020. His outstanding performance led him to finish third overall, earning him the title of Rookie of the Year. This is his fourth year participating in the race, and he is currently ranked 12th in the drivers' rankings.

3. Flag off thrilling afterparties at MARQUEE Singapore

MARQUEE Singapore brings together two industry giants for two back-to-back performances over the F1 race weekend

Press Release

The thrill of the race season continues late into the night as MARQUEE Singapore brings together two Electronic Dance Music (EDM) industry giants to helm back-to-back afterparties over the F1 race weekend. Party-goers are invited to rave to adrenaline-pumping rhythms as legendary DJs Afrojack and Axwell come to headline the race weekend afterparties on 20 and 21 September respectively. Globally acclaimed for their chart-topping hits and influential roles in the EDM scene, both acts are sure to amplify the F1 fervour.

Grammy-award winning DJ and music producer Afrojack is set to dominate the stage on 20 September, promising a rousing night with his signature set of heavy-weight, futuristic, party-targeted tracks. Hailing from the Netherlands, the Dutch DJ is a staple name at major events and festivals and has released an array of chart-topping tracks, including "Ten Feet Tall", "Take Over Control" and "Give Me Everything".

On 21 September, Swedish DJ and producer Axwell will take to the decks, setting the dance floor ablaze with his progressive house mixes and uplifting hits. Axwell is a trailblazer in the EDM scene and promises to bring an enthralling performance chockfull of timeless dance music anthems. A member of the legendary house supergroup Swedish House Mafia alongside Steve Angello and Sebastian Ingrosso, the trio has been hailed as the faces of mainstream progressive house music and has released some of the greatest tracks in EDM history, including 'Don't You Worry Child' and 'Save the World'.
